SIXTY-SIXTH YEAR NO. 30

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, JUNE 25 1943

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress,
Seventh Ohio District

It now seems certain that the battle between Congress and the Administration over food subsidies, as predicted in this column two weeks ago, will soon break into full fury. Late last week the President came out in flat-footed support of the payment of subsidies for the purpose of rolling back prices on certain foods, maintaining present prices on others, and increasing production of some commodities. According to the estimates submitted, the subsidy program will cost approximately two billion dollars of the taxpayers money this year, and five billion dollars next year. In this connection it should not be overlooked that all New Deal spending programs have exceeded their original estimates many times as much as ten to one. At the present time there is great opposition in the Congress to the subsidy program and the President will not be able to force its enactment into law without a hard-fought battle. There is a general feeling that once such a program is fastened upon the people it would be very difficult to get rid of it, and that the cost would increase tremendously from year to year. It should be remembered that any savings made by an individual in the purchase of foods under the subsidy plan would be taken away through increased taxes, and in addition thereto he would have to carry the increased tax burden which would result from the establishment of a gigantic bureaucracy to administer the program.

Congressional demands for the centralization of food production, distribution, rationing and price ceilings under one active head, have been rejected by the President. It is now quite possible that the Congress may enact legislation requiring the transfer of food rationing and price control from the Office of Price Administration to the jurisdiction of Chester Davis, Food Administrator. This, of course, would precipitate another real fight between the President and the legislative branch of the government.

At long last the Roosevelt Administration has officially admitted that the nation faces a real food shortage in 1943 and 1944. Official crop estimates issued last week by the Department of Agriculture forecast the shortest crop production of many years. Reports being received by Congressional committees studying the situation indicate that the production of both corn and wheat in 1943 may be much lower than the government estimates. The vegetable and fruit pack will also be greatly reduced. Poultry, milk and beef production will slump, and the American people will be required to live on short rations if our fighting forces are fully supplied and Administration commitments to foreign nations are kept.

As the beginning of the new fiscal year on July 1st draws near, the Congress has before it fifteen major appropriation bills which must be enacted by that date. Some of the measures have already cleared both branches and are being given consideration in Conference Committees. Others have passed the House and are waiting action in the Senate. The rest will be voted upon in the House within the next few days. Many hundreds of millions of dollars have already been cut from departmental requests by the appropriations committee. The House has been much more economy minded than the Senate, which some times restores appropriation items that have been eliminated in the House. However, when all appropriations are finally made, it is believed that the 78th Congress will have written a real economy record and will have reduced the proposed expenditures of the departments and agencies of government by several billion dollars. At the same time, due to the necessity of appropriating more than one hundred billion dollars for war purposes, this Congress will have voted the largest appropriations ever made by any government in all human history.

Last week the President called in a number of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, and of the Finance Committee of the Senate to discuss proposed new legislation to raise an additional sixteen billion dollars a year in taxes. It was finally agreed that

Revised Rules On Butchering For Farmers

The Indiana Guide publishes with comment the revised rules recently issued by the OPA concerning farm butchering for home use.

The first rules set farmers over the nation on fire and as many protests hit Washington, the OPA was forced to make some revisions and eliminate some foolish restrictions.

The first rules required a farmer to put up ration points to the slaughterer before the meat could be taken up. The points were to be given up on the basis of the weight of the hog after butchering. It had not dawned on the long-haired boys in hiding from the army on government pay in the OPA that it would take several ration books for a farmer to get a 250 pound hog back on the farm. This was changed.

The first order said if a butcher came to your farm to kill that was alright. In the latest revision it provides that a farmer and his family may consume meat raised on the farm.

However if the farm owner lives in the city or any other place than on the farm, he must give up ration points for the meat. He consumes off the farm, although he need not pay for the meat in money. There is no instructions as to who is to receive the meat ration points—unless it would be the tenant on the farm. What he would do with them is not yet clear.

A farmer who acquires meat from a custom slaughterer without surrendering ration points must provide a certificate to prove the meat is for family use and produced from live stock on his farm. If meat produced on the farm is sold, stamps must be collected.

Group butchering by neighbors is limited to 400 pounds of lean beef or veal, and 140 pounds of pork or other products of meat.

The New Deal contention prohibition could not be enforced. There is going to be speculation as to enforcement of farm slaughtering.

Probate Court Orders Settlement

Greene county probate court has authorized Burton Turner, as administrator of the estate of Lucien Burton Turner, 19 Wilberforce, killed in a truck-auto collision on Route 42 near Cedarville last Nov. 26, to settle his claim against the Miami Transportation Co., S. S. McNear and Office Voyd Hasty, Cincinnati, for $2,050.

The court authorized William Davidson, Jr., Cedarville, one of two others injured in the same accident, to accept $350 in settlement of his claim against the same defendants for permanent injuries suffered.

Chickens Killed By Dogs Draw Cash

"Fido" may never have killed sheep but from now on he must not kill chickens on or off the farm. If horses, mules, cows, sheep are attacked and die the owner must pay the loss out of the sheep fund, according to a new law just signed by Gov. Bricker. The greater the loss of animals or chickens the higher the price of dog tags will be. The loss on chickens must amount to $10 or more before the owner can collect from the county.

Greene County Fair Catalogue Is Ready

Greene county fair board is ready to distribute 2000 copies of the catalogue for the annual fair, scheduled for August 3, 4, 5 and 6.

The catalogue is a handy index to all departments and class prizes, covering exhibits for 10 departments with slight changes from recent years. The Ohio State Hampshire Swine show will be staged here for the second straight year, having been transferred from the state fair by the Ohio State Hampshire Hog Breeders' association.

Live Stock Still Drop In Price

Hogs and cattle continue the downward trend in prices this week following pressure of the New Deal, aided by large packers, to check inflation. Packers are closing down under price ceilings and citizens in many cities are forced to do without meat. Reports in livestock circles are that the government wants hogs down to $12.50 for top grades.

OPTIMISM ON FARM FUTURE IS LACKING

Louis Bromfield, author and extensive Ohio farmer in an address at the Ohio State University, Tuesday, said: "American agriculture is sick, when at all times it should be but getting going, because food will have a prominent part in post-war peace. Bromfield, prominent Democrat, is speaking weekly before Ohio audiences against the New Deal farm program and using farmers as a goat to whip other interests.

"Our growing food shortage may become permanent and America's abundance is at an end. There will probably be food riots in larger cities this winter."

Bromfield predicted after the war, the nation's farms would be industrialized and that means the virtual end of the one-family farm.

While Bromfield talked, meat-dealers in Central Market, Columbus, announced they were closing their shops until there was a supply of beef that would enable them to operate at a profit. They blamed OPA price ceilings.

The OPA has denied the Franklin county commissioners the right to slaughter 35 hogs and 16 hogs owned by the institution for meat to feed 300 elderly men and women that could not be fed at inmates. The commissioners cannot purchase beef and is now denied the right to slaughter what the county owns.

Blood Donor Service Is Again Asked

The Greene County Chapter of the American Red Cross has again been asked to recruit volunteers blood donors for a fourth visit of the Cincinnati and Hamilton County Mobile Blood Donors' Unit, to be held at Xenia Central High School gym July 27th through July 31st.

The blood plasma is being used to save the lives of seriously wounded soldiers, sailors and marines in the war areas. Supplies are needed at all points where our armed forces are operating, and services are being set aside for civilian use in time of war caused by natural disaster.

The Blood Program will continue for the duration of the war and the local chapter has been requested to secure 800 donors for this visit. In order that it may reach this quota, the local chapter must call for the support and cooperation of all religious, civic, medical, and industrial leaders.

One pint of blood easily and painlessly given, means little to the donor, but perhaps life itself to the victim of war to whom it is administered.

COMMUNITY PARTIES TO BE WEEKLY EVENTS

GOV. SIGNS FAMOUS "NUMBERS BILL"

Gov. Bricker signed the "numbers bill", which the legislature passed at the request of Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert. It will become a law in 90 days. The first offense provides a fine up to $500 and six months to ten months in jail. Second charge from $500 to $1000 fine and pen sentence from one to three years.

AWOL GOES TO FAIRFIELD

A deserter from the army, a Mexican was picked up Tuesday by Chief Marshall. The fellow had over-loaded himself with New Deal beer and became a nuisance. Fairfield aviation authorities called for the deserter who did not have a pass.

Not A Story From "My Day"

Mrs. John W. Bricker wife of the Governor, may have had a little difficulty with "points" when she was called upon to entertain many of the Governors and their wives at the Executive Mansion at the recent Governor's Conference in Columbus, but she had an answer for the OPA officials.

"You are not listed as an institution and we can't give you anymore stamps" an official is quoted.

"Indeed we are not an institution and don't want to be" Mrs. Bricker said. "We take a lot of pride in getting along on our ration stamps as a family."

It was a big job entertaining such distinguished guests but the former Urbana Lady and former Madison county resident evidently worked it out, in spite of limited ration points.

Farm Jobs Will Not Keep Draftees Out Of Army Service

Crone, Osborn; Charles Shepherd of Xenia Twp., and Rev. John Kelley, Yellow Springs, represented the county board at a meeting in Dayton, Friday night. It was pointed out that farm deferments were granted only until replacements can be found.

A job on a farm or operating a farm are classified the same as deferment for industry. A deferment is granted only for the government as it sees best and not for the employer or for any other purpose. This new regulation will be enforced take many single boys from the farm.

"FARMER" WANTS VETO

James G. Patton, president of the National Farmer's Union, urges President Roosevelt to veto the war labor disputes bill. He fears if the bill becomes law all organized labor will lose its freedom. The organization has in the past endorsed all New Deal measures and is not recognized as an organization representing actual farmers or even farm organizations. The group is for organized farm labor farm social security, farm health and hospital insurance—at the expense of the farmer.

WANTS A MILK BUCKET

Joe Hutchinson, well known Xenia Twp. farmer wants a milk bucket. Says he has hunted Xenia over and there is no such thing. Joe has some comments to make at the right time. If he was engaged in a more essential business than milking cows he could get a priority for a milk bucket. If he were a New Deal milker no milk bucket would be required.

A SON WAS BORN

Nelson Creswell, insurance agent, picture show operator and village clerk is a trifle busier this week. He and Mrs. Creswell have a new son born Monday at the Springfield City Hospital. They now have one daughter and two sons.

PACKERS ARE CLOSING DUE TO CEILING

With slaughtering firms in Cincinnati and other Ohio cities slowing up on beef slaughtering due to financial loss following OPA price ceilings, the public is to be treated to many "meatless" days soon.

Nine Cincinnati packers closed down their plants last week. Dapkins and Troy have reduced killings for the present. It is said Springfield packers are forced to stop rather than face continued loss.

The Springfield Sun states there is little or no meat for retail this week in that city. Monday Cincinnati customers found no beef just pork.

The situation is due to the crazy rules and regulations with price ceilings forced on the trade.

Reports in Cincinnati Monday were that Washington was to aid in forcing down the price of all live stock for slaughter to give the packers a profit. Less than 600 head of cattle were on the Chicago market last Friday.

Farmers and feeders refuse to sell at a loss. Most of the hogs going to market from the west are underfed, due to scarcity of corn.

Farm and feeder organizations are urging farmers to hold back all live stock. The farmer is in the driver's seat if he continues to keep his live stock off the market. With cattle at present prices not many farmers can figure a profit.

Court Upholds Greene Verdict

A verdict favoring H. B. Zimmerman, Delaware, O., returned by a common pleas court jury here October 29, 1942, in trial of a $30,775.50 damage suit filed by William Collins, Spring Valley, was upheld yesterday by unanimous decision of the second district court of appeals.

Collins' suit, claiming personal injuries and other damages, was based on an auto accident Sept. 12, 1941, on Route 42, two and one-half miles north of Spring Valley. He was driver of a car involved in a side-swipe collision with two semi-trailer outfits owned by the Delaware man.

Y. S. Physician Up On Narcotic Charge

Taylor, 78, Yellow Springs, were greatly surprised when it was announced that the physician and three women had been indicted in Federal Court, Dayton, on a narcotic charge. PURCHASES 40 ACRE FARM

Edward Dean, extensive land owner this week purchased the forty-acre farm owned by William Miltner, located in the Deep Bend. The seller is moving to a farm near Jamestown.

WHAT FATHER AND MOTHER DISCOVERED

How easy it is for one to deceive himself even in his own business transactions. Here is a farmer who with a wife have toiled years and they have denied themselves of pleasures they might have enjoyed except for that desire to be thrifty and have something in their declining days. Their savings amounted to a little over $5,000, a sum worth while in the days before the Roosevelt revolution. With age creeping on this couple and farm help scarce they were unable to carry on. The farm that had been handed down years ago from a thrifty father now attracted a buyer. The owner placed what he thought to be a fair price on it, said to be $10,000. With the $5,000 and the price of the farm "father and mother" were sure that sum would keep them from want.

Father had been a careful farmer. He had transacted all the business in connection with his farm. He never was in debt and he could write a check for more than his father could at his death. This was looked upon as a triumph but this was before the advent of the Roosevelt revolution. Not being up on income taxes and the turn of events with the New Deal that had set sail to distribute the wealth of the nation among the have-nots at the expense of those who had been thrifty, discovered after a contract to sell the farm had been signed that he would be called upon to pay Uncle Sam nearly one half of his life savings as income taxes on a farm that had no appraised value. What to do with the money was the next thought. The banks could not pay interest. The loans had dropped to meet government competition and about the best rate of interest for "father and mother" was 2-1/2 per cent. This would be only $800 a year or $25 a month, not enough to pay rent and keep body and soul together as the couple had enjoyed in their many years on the farm, but those days were before the days of regimentation for farm prices.

"Father and mother" were perplexed at their situation. Dark days were ahead of them for income. How could they have the faith in their government they once had? What a shock it was to the son of a Civil War veteran to look at the world now in chaos. There was a brighter future. They could turn their little fortune over to daughter and apply for old age pensions. This at first did not appeal to either for they had never been in debt nor had they ever asked for alms. It was shown to the couple that by accepting old age pensions they could be enjoying more income and have more comfort than by trying to live off the interest of $800 a year or twelve dollars a month for the two. The old age pension would make them rich. Each could get about $33 a month or $792 a year for the two. That would represent an income of $790 on an investment of $31,600, or 490 more than was possible if they kept the $10,000. The daughter accepted the gift less some more Roosevelt taxes for $8,000 is all that you can give away in any one year. The daughter and the son-in-law are the losers in the transaction. They must pay income taxes on the net gift and also their earnings and state and local taxes to help maintain the old age pension fund. The old folks could get comfort out of this case but what a sorry day awaits the coming generations, even the fourth and fifth, when by their efforts these oncoming children must slave to pay our coming three hundred billion national debt and also pay state and local taxes to keep up old age pensions, unemployment insurance and a host of other things the New Deal would unload on posterity. What if Destiny should endow Roosevelt, Wallace and the crack-pot crowd with 300 years of old age that they might live to see the fruits of their dreams and hide in fear from an enraged populace?

GOV. BRICKER ATTACKS CENSORSHIP

Governor John W. Bricker attacked present methods of censorship and the part OWI is playing as "cheap propaganda" for political purposes, a statement that cannot be denied. He warned that present plans evidently call for restricting of free speech and a free press. What the Governor had to say to more than three hundred newspaper men at the annual convention of the National Editorial Association in session last week in Cincinnati, was endorsed by all publishers present representing state associations with a membership of more than five thousand.

The Governor also pointed out that by a U. S. Supreme Court decision the New Deal had taken over control of all radio stations in the country and nothing is permitted to go on the air without censorship. Mere mention of the name of Elmer Davis, who heads the New Deal bureau, merely brings "up turned noses" in any group of newsmen, whether from their weekly magazine or metropolitan group. Few even have a good word for Davis who is looked upon as a cheap publicity agent for Roosevelt, blowing his horn or openly offering apologies for administration blunders. Newsmen endorse the proposed action of Congress in cutting off funds to keep the Communist bureau from poisoning the public mind. One publisher at the convention termed the Davis dialogues for ration, the war effort and Roosevelt fourth term as distinctive simple. Another publisher from the south suggested the Davis outfit should have the broadcasts of most of the news commentators, Thomas, Swing and others set to music as they are all alike. Other commentators like Lewis and Kaltenborn were endorsed for their open-mindedness in handling national as well as world news events.

If Davis ever was held in high esteem, and no doubt he has been by the great daily publishers, he has fallen from his once high estate to become the mouth-piece for cheap New Deal politics. Radio ownership is no longer responsible for what goes on the air—not even "fire-side chats".

FOOD PRODUCTION IS THE NEED

In all the talk about food, domestic and foreign, it will be well to think less of controlling and apportioning what is available, and consider to greater extent how to produce more. That is the end question, production. Happily, Herbert Hoover, in his latest approach to the problem, swings more to that line.

He is correct in his views that American cities will have even less food supply in coming months, and next winter, than they have had in recent days. He is right in declaring that even so Americans will not starve. The reduced diets in American cities are still on a lush and luxurious plane by present international standards.

When he says that if the war in Europe should come to an end within the next 12 months "we should have no consequential food supplies with which to meet three or four hundred millions of starving people" he accurately assesses one of the potential tragedies of these times.

All this underlines the necessity for extraordinary, even colossal, food production in the United States. Mr. Hoover barely suggests the need when he asks for the planting of from 40 to 50 million additional acres next year. What are other needs? We suggest a few: a price structure that will give incentive for the right sort of crops, better organization and financing of smaller farmers, more reliable guarantees of harvest, provision of adequate machinery and fertilizer, improved use of dairy products, and, above all, definite intelligent planning for the immediate needs of freed peoples, needs that include—so they may help themselves—barnyard animals and farming implements as well as sustaining rations.

—CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

One of the long haired chinless brain-trusters of the New Deal had a happy idea one day last week. Hearing probably for the first time that hogs must be fattened on corn and other high protein food, concluded that it was useless to worry about feed and man power in feeding hogs. His pet theory advanced was that everybody could eat the corn, soy beans, mill feed slop and get all the nourishment that was possible by eating pork. If that was true about hog why would it not also apply to beef, lamb and poultry. Don't be surprised under our New Deal dictatorship if you hear the farm wife give the menu to her husband to go to the crib and get a dozen ears of corn and a couple quarts of soy beans to be prepared for Sunday dinner. Just think of how much labor could be saved on the farm by eating the grain without wasting it on live stock and then eating meat. We have a wonderful set of "cranks" heading government departments down in Washington.

A southern publisher stated to the writer over the weekend, "one thing that has not happened is a Sunday night fire-side chat" on the coal strike. The White House has not issued any statements over the "wholesale killing" of negroes in Texas, Alabama and Detroit by mobs. The White House is not issuing fire-side chats on the plan of permitting negroes to vote down south. Hereafter the White House told Congress it would not or would sign certain legislation. On the coal strike situation to date it is neither "man nor mouse".

Gov. Bricker placed a veto on a legislative bill that if it became a law would permit public officials in this state to have an interest in writing bonds for officers and for contracts. No more dangerous proposition has been proposed. You might as well have handed the key to the state money safe as to have such a law. The Governor is to be thanked for placing his veto on such a bill. It is the kind of legislation the New Deal puts over down in Washington.

As to federal contracts the Roosevelt "tea-pot dome" oil scandal as proposed by Sec. Frank Knox; a Roosevelt appointee, whereby an oil company is given a hold on government oil land, brings up what happened during the first World War. The Republicans in Congress let a lot of sunshine in on the New Deal oil deal and it had dropped. The smell was "oily".

Sen. Byrd, Dem., Virginia, has been the thorn in the New Deal flesh. His committee recommends the government at once drop some 300,000 appointments that are escaping war duty by holding useless jobs in Washington. New Dealers with sons and relatives with sons of draft age are "cheating" with government sanction according to Sen. Byrd. This would be a reduction of less than 10 per cent in the government payroll. It might lighten the income tax load and require that less be taken from the pay check.

Herbert Mergert, who does the political column from Columbus for the Cincinnati Enquirer, and probably knows more of the makings of political campaigns for candidates and vote down south. Hereafter the political parties, gives prominent mention several days ago, intimating that Judge Frank Johnson of this county, might seek a seat on the District Court of Appeals, which comprises 6 member of counties in central Ohio. The court stands two Republicans and one Democrat now and Mr. Mergert intimates Judge Barnes, D. whose term expires, might not seek re-election. This would leave an opening and there would be none more worthy than our own Common Pleas Judge for the honor. Greene County has not had a judge on that court since Judge Shearer served a number of years ago.

Democratic office seekers are having a hard time making a decision as to whether it is worth while to seek any office on that ticket with the stench of the New Deal in the nostrils of all decent people. A friend of the writer who publishes a Democratic paper in his county says "it would be a waste of time and money and effort for any Democrat in Ohio to have his name on the next county, state or municipal ticket. He stated a half dozen prominent Democrats in his county seat were solicited to become candidates for Mayor, the present incumbent wanting to retire. All have great fear of the pending disaster of the New Deal and none want to risk their political fortunes at this time. Even Mr. Mergert intimates it would be a hopeless task to run for office on the Democratic ticket in these days of unrest.

The shortage of corn is not only a problem to livestock feeders but to mills that provide corn products for human consumption. For instance much corn meal is used in the southern states and "gates", a cornmeal ground corn, has been a favorite for a century south of the Mason and Dixon line. Then there is the famous dish that even the northern people like, especially those whose mothers of fifty years ago stayed long enough each day in the kitchen to make "corn pone". All forms of corn products are daily growing scarcer in the south. The south wants hog prices dropped to the $1.57 corn parity price to bring corn out of the bins and stop feeding so much to hogs. This would curtail the production of lard, pork chops, bacon and even the famous New Deal "chitterlings", hog guts if you please. It has been hinted the storage of corn, wheat and oats in northern mills for various breakfast cereals is daily growing less. Gov. Tom Dewey, New York, at the meeting of governors at Columbus, suggests that hogs be given the New Deal "little pig" treatment to save corn so that the east would have more feed for the big dairy herds, something it has not enough of at present under New Deal scarcity plan. Perry Green, head of the Ohio Farm Bureau was quoted over the radio several days ago as saying if farmers did not meet the food demands of the day, someone would see that they or someone else did. Murray Lincoln, secretary of the Bureau, a delegate to the Roosevelt Free Trade Food Conference must have given Perry some of the "inside workings of the conference" that newsmen were not permitted to hear. From all this it might be that Mr. Roosevelt had deliberately called upon the American farmer to be the "whipping boy" so the city folks and John L. Lewis followers could eat more and draw higher pay. It is always well to recall that Mr. Roosevelt said months ago: "That the farmer must work harder, longer and for less as his contribution to the war effort."

If we recall weeks ago when the Bankhead bill was up for consideration to compel farm cost of labor to be included in parity for farm crops, the boast was made that we had a ceiling price under hogs. There, Farmers were lulled to a slumber on New Deal promises. Hogs are being objection to a ceiling price. Now the boasted floor price? Cattle are below what good feeders cost months ago. At this point the farmer should ask himself one question: "Is the AAA standing for the farmer and a just price or silent while the city consumer and the New Deal politicians applaud each drop in the price of farm products? Price ceilings are necessary to protect the consumer but he has not a good word to say for the farmer as the producer. He did say that with money in the consumer's pocket, no... at in retail outlets, it was not a pleasant thing to think about having to eat the ration coupons as a substitute.

Race riots in Detroit, Texas and many southern states against the negro has again brought to the surface the poll tax repeal bill in Congress and other equal rights issues. In Detroit the whites have been vexed at federal housing authorities over white or negro tenants. Twenty-nine dead and 700 injured was the toll for the rioting. Industrial plants crippled due to the fact negro labor dared not enter factories. The poll tax issue is bothering New Dealers. If Roosevelt endorses the measure 100 Congressmen from the south threaten political punishment. In the meantime northern negroes are enraged over the failure of the federal government to give the people fair treatment. Mr. Roosevelt has not seen fit to have another fire-side chat on this issue.

About the meanest citizen one might point out is a former Democrat, who boasts he is a New Dealer, that purchases a $500 war bond each drive, yet never has more than $375 invested in bonds at any one time. He is always boastful of his bond purchases. Three times he has purchased five hundred dollar bonds of the "E" issue. After holding the bonds for sixty days or longer he turns them in and gets his cash back. He has purchased two different times. Before the next bond sale he probably will sell his third purchase so he can boast of how many bonds he has purchased. The weakest point in the government finance program for war bonds is permitting the sale of bonds by purchasers under one year and five would be better.

Washington Letter

The Ways and Means Committee will start work on the new tax bill late in August or early September, following the Congressional recess. However, the most important decision made was that any new tax legislation enacted will not be retroactive and will, therefore, not become effective with the possible exception of excise taxes—before January 1st, 1944. This means, of course, that the present rate of income taxes will apply on 1943 incomes. Incidentally, there is strong opposition in the House to any further increases in individual income taxes for 1944 and 1945.

For several months now there have been rumors floating about as to the grandiose plan of the Office of Civilian Defense to have a representative in every city block, and thirty to forty thousand well trained speakers scattered throughout the country, ostensibly for defense purposes but actually for the dissemination of propaganda in support of Administration activities. If such was the plan it was knocked into a cocked hat by action of the House Appropriation Committee last week in refusing to appropriate funds for the "blue organization" program, as requested by OGD.

Rev. Justin J. Hartman Married Tuesday To Miss Anne Hempy

A pretty June wedding ceremony was performed before an altar of flowers, when Miss Margaret Anne Hempy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Hempy, Green Springs, O., became the bride of Rev. Justin J. Hartman, Bristow, O., when the marriage vows were exchanged in the Green Springs Methodist Church, Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. William H. Norman, pastor of the church, officiated at the double wedding service. Miss Margaret Cullison, friend of the bride while attending college, presented a fifteen-minute prelude of organ music, and Mrs. Owen Hughes, Fremont, sang "Love Only You," and "If God Left Only You." Miss Cullison also played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's Recessional.

Miss Janice Wilson, Bloomington, roommate of the bride at college, wearing a floor length gown of blue chiffon and carrying an arm bouquet of roses and snapdragons, was maid of honor. Doris Ann Reynolds, Cedarville, niece of the bridegroom, was flower-girl. She wore pink and blue organza and carried a basket of rosebuds.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of white designed with a satin basque with a sweetheart neckline, bouffant skirt of chiffon with embroidered insets of butterfly medallions and forming a full train. Her illusion fingertip veil was set on a Juliet cap. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Hempy, mother of the bride, wore for her daughter's wedding a dress of beige net. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. George Hartman, wore ink faille. Both had white accessories and corsages.

Best man was Rev. Robert Mueller, Berlin. Ushers were Rev. Robert Tobison, Oberlin; Rev. William Stewart, Clyde, Ohio; Rev. Ray Beals, North Baltimore, and Mr. Harry Wallace, Cedarville.

Sigma Theta, Phi Beta and Who's Who in American Colleges. Rev. Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hartman, graduated from Cedarville High School and Cedarville College and Oberlin Graduate School of Theology where he was awarded the Monroe scholarship.

Rev. and Mrs. Hartman left for Sudbury, Vt., where he has a summer pastorate. For her going away ensemble, Mrs. Hartman wore a blue linen suit with white accessories. They will reside next year in New York City where he will attend Union Theological Seminary and she will continue her music.

TO HOME FEDERAL SAVINGS and LOAN INVESTORS

The Board of Directors of the Home Federal Savings and Loan Association has authorized the announcement that the dividend on savings shares payable, January 1, 1944 and thereafter, will be anticipated on a basis of 2 1/2% annually, in place of 3%. No change in dividend is planned for July 1, 1943.

This rate of 2 1/2% still gives a good return, considering the liquidity of savings accounts and present income from comparable investments. It is not to the investor as state intangible tax is paid by the association; also premiums are paid for insurance which insures all accounts up to $5,000 by an instrumentality of the U. S. Government.

Owing to Governmental defense building programs, with restrictions on private building, no construction loans are available and no demand is likely for the duration of war conditions.

Also the rapid prepayment of existing mortgages and the scarcity of new mortgages of any type, has brought about a condition of surplus cash in amounts far beyond those necessary for safe cash balances.

We do not wish to further reduce our acceptance of funds and aim to continue to serve our customers. On account of unusual conditions set forth and with a desire to do our patriotic duty, we have invested over One Half Million Dollars in government bonds, the return on which reduces our earnings below the usual income from mortgage loans.

The safety of any financial institution depends on the character of its loans and sufficient reserves. In these uncertain times reserves should be fully maintained and if possible increased, which can be done only by continuing to do business on a profitable basis.

FORUM TO DISCUSS

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

R. A. Dyer of the Ohio Industrial Commission of Columbus will discuss Workmen's compensation as it applies to agriculture at Farm Forum, Monday evening, June 28, at 9 P. M., R. W. T. at Gayles. The New Jasper committee headed by Franklin Bosta is arranging the program. In addition to the discussion on Industrial Insurance the color pictures taken at the 1942 Farm Mens Camp will be shown.

Last year there were more than 14,000 farm accidents in Ohio resulting in a total expense of about $7,250,000. It is expected that more accidents will occur this year since a greater number of inexperienced boys, girls, women and men will be working on farms.

FARMERS SHOULD CARRY INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE

Farmers who employ three or more persons are required to have industrial insurance. Members of the farm operator's family, when working on the farm for wages, are to be counted as employees. When working as partners in the business, family members like the farm operator are employers and are not covered by industrial insurance.

Insurance is now available for short periods at less expense than the minimum premium cost for a six month period. It is possible for the farmer who has several employees for one or more short periods to obtain coverage when needed and to avoid the expense for the remainder of the year.

ORDER FALL FERTILIZER NOW

If the fertilizer industry is to get wheat fertilizer on the farm before wheat seeding time, farmers must place orders early and accept delivery whenever the fertilizer is available in July, August and early September. There is apparently no alternative.

MORE BARBED WIRE AVAILABLE

Approximately 20,000 tons of barbed wire with extra long barbs, made for military purposes, will be used to meet the shortage of barbed wire on the farm, according to a WPA announcement. Under the arrangement, the Defense Supplies Corporation will purchase the barbed wire (12 gauge, 4 point) from the army and resell it to companies which made it. Those companies, in turn, will use the wire to fill orders from distributors serving farm areas.

PART TIME FARM HELP NEEDED

There is urgent need for part time help on Greene County farms, and industrial workers and business men are urged to register for after hours assistance at the Farm Labor Center in Post Office Building. There is a great demand for full time farm workers but the supply of these men is limited. More than 28 men at the trailer camp on the Upper Bellbrook pike have volunteered for part time farm work near Xenia. A list of these men together with the hours available may be secured from E. H. Smith, farm labor assistant at the county agents office.

CAN STILL PLANT SOYBEANS

Soybeans can be planted safely for grain as late as July 1st. This is the recommendation of Ohio State University crop specialists who say that delayed planting does not affect soybean yields as seriously as it does corn yields. They further state that corn planted up to June 25, for grain and until July 1 for silage probably will produce more feed per acre than any available substitute grain crop. The chances are even that corn will mature when planted from June 20 to 25.

SHORTAGE OF LEGUME SEED

There is a serious shortage of clover and alfalfa seed and farmers are urged to harvest all the seed available. The poor yields of seed last year together with the heavy drain on reserve stocks have depleted our resources of legume seeds.

BEES INCREASE CLOVER SEED YIELDS

Alfalfa and red clover yields can be increased by placing enough colonies of bees near clover fields to improve pollination. W. E. Dunham, bee specialist of Ohio State University found that yields of from 4 to 12 bushels of seed per acre were obtained in field tests when honey bees were used to increase pollination. On plots where insects were excluded from the clover blooms, yields were at the rate of one-fourth to three-fourths bushel per acre.

Mr. Dunham found that there were about 400,000,000 flowers in an acre of alfalfa and 216,000,000 in an acre of red clover. Four or five colonies of bees per acre will give good pollination. A strong colony during clover bloom may contain 80,000 bees. He found that farmers can get a profit of $15 to $20 on each dollar expended for renting bees. To increase clover seed yields.

SECOND COVER SPRAY FOR APPLES

Apple growers should apply the second cover spray for the first brood of codling moth on or about June 22. Codling moths have been active in apple orchards most nights in June reaching their peak the first week of the month. Most of the fruit growers applied the first cover spray during this period, however the fruit has grown rapidly making another June application necessary.

The recommended spray consists of eight pounds of Flotation type sulphur or wettable sulphur, plus three pounds lead arsenate, one pound zinc sulphate, three pounds hydrated lime, to 100 gallons of water. Growers who have trouble with blotch or Brooks spot should use 2-4-100 Bordeaux and three pounds of lead arsenate. If bitter rot has been serious use 4-8-100 Bordeaux plus lead arsenate.

INVEST 10 PER CENT OF YOUR WEEKLY PAY IN WAR BONDS

Up Your Savings

There will be American justice for the savages of Tokyo but our trial and punishment of Tojo and his criminals will cost blood, sweat, toil and tears and money. You can supply the money by upping your war bond buying through the payroll savings plan. Figure it out yourself and see where the money is coming from. How much does it cost you and your family to live each month? How much money is coming in from all members of your family? Put the extra money into war bonds every penny of it. Let 10 per cent be only the starting point for figuring your allotment.

JOHN'S COUNSEL TO CHRISTIANS

LESSON TEXT—John 4:11-13; John 4:14-16; John 4:17-19; John 4:20-24.

Christians need guidance, especially in their home and church relationships. The apostle John, under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, wrote the two personal letters known to us as I and II John. They should be read with spiritual, practical advice. Note that these two words belong together, for what is truly spiritual cannot help but be tremendously practical and perfect for the direction of thought and life. In these letters five admirable lessons are taught. Let us give heed to them. They are appropriate to our day.

I. Set an Example Before Your Children (II John 4-6). We may not like to admit it, but our children are largely what we make. Their training—or lack of it—in the home. Parents have the grave and at the same time precious responsibility of being what they want their children to be. We set the mold of their thinking and acting, not only about material things, but mentally and spiritually, which is far more important. Above all we must teach them by precept and example to love God supremely, and to walk after His commandments. Father, mother, have you done your duty? Are your children "walking in truth"? (v. 4)?

II. Be on Guard Against False Teachers (II John 7-11). We are not to countenance false teaching, even by entertaining such teachers, or having close fellowship with them. To create the impression before the world and the Church that they are "not so bad," by appearing as their friends, is to participate in their evil works (v. 11). This is a serious matter, and one which is a problem in the Church today.

Such teachers may easily be recognized. They are aptly described by Dr. Douglas: "In all ages the Church has been plagued by those who want to substitute something for pure Christianity, or to embellish it with bright ideas of their own conceiving. Such people may try to strip religion of its supernatural aspect and reduce it to a merely rationalistic system. They may seek to ally loose the moral standards of the Church because their own lives are deficient when measured by such standards. They may try to minimize the teaching of the cross because it stands for sacrifice. Watch against them, and stand against their destructive teaching."

III. Be Diligent in Putting Forward True Teachers (III John 8-10). The door which should be closed against false teachers should be opened wide to those who are faithful teachers of the truth. This refers primarily to the hospitality of the home, and reminds us of a grace which has been all but forgotten in these days of small apartments.

Whether we are able to open our homes to God's servants or not, we can show a Christian spirit of genuine hospitality in helping to bring them forward (v. 8) in their work. This may be done by gifts of money, by kindness shown in time of need, by a real interest in their work, by recommending them to others who wish to hear the truth.

Do everything possible, then, to hinder the false teacher, and be just as diligent to put forward the ministry of the true man of God.

IV. Do Not Trust Friends, Self-Seeking Leaders (III John 9-11). A man may be orthodox, and intensely loyal to the denomination, and at the same time be a wicked man whose example is to be shunned. No word is said against the teaching of Diotrephes. He was not condemned for being careless about the affairs of the church, or unfaithful in his attendance and devotion to its interest as he saw them. The sin of Diotrephes was pride, a desire to be the boss of the church, "No. 1 man" in its affairs. Lacking the true spirituality which always results in humility, he opposed the apostle. Not only did he refuse to receive him, but used his power on others who were willing to be hospitable.

V. Emulate the Life of the Man of Good Report (III John 12). A good man! No words of praise could possibly surpass such a testimony. The world is full of brilliant, rich, wealthy and prominent people, but there is an appalling dearth of good men and women. How refreshing to meet, and how delightful to know, such a man—such a woman. Like Demetrius, they have not only the witness of the Church, and of the truth, but also of "all men." But last week we said the world hates real Christians. It does, but it also respects them, and is forced to bear witness to their reality and goodness.

Professed fellowship with God in Christ which does not result in goodness of life may well be scrutinized.
